

Bank forces sale of prime domain names at Public Auction

An Internet Company is forced to auction off assets on April 21, 2008 which include prime domain names at a NO RESERVE AUCTION

On April 21, 2008 WCIS Inc. will be forced to auction off several of its prime domain names at Domain Roundtable's live auction.

[large]

SecretCode.com and SecretCodes.com (Lot 3)

will be sold with  NO RESERVES ***

[/large]

Included in the sale are SecretCode.com and SecretCodes.com (Lot 3). These prime domain names appraise for over $100,000. They get type in traffic from people looking for game cheat codes. Over 100,000 visits in the last 3 years & generate thousands of dollars in pay per click (PPC) revenue.

Anyone can bid on these names online by going to the following link and signing up as a bidder.

[b]

<http://www.domaintools.com/live-auction/bid.html#secretcodes.com>

[/b]

For further info contact Jim Taylor questions@riddles.com

<http://secretcodes.com>